

March 2010 Free Giveaway Sponsor - Offensive Security

5 Free Seats in OffSec Online Training!

Offensive Security has carved out a place in the pen testing field that is quite rare. They offer not only high quality training but also at some of the lowest price points in the industry. For an insider's look at Pentesting With BackTrack (PWB), check out Ryan Linn's review of PWB and the associated exam, OSCP. But as well know as PWB is becoming, let's not forget they also have 3 other courses. For you wireless pen testers, there's OffSec Wireless Attacks AKA WiFu, for Windows environments there's Advanced Windows Exploitationand (AWE), and for those ready to prove their mettle, OffSec throws down the gauntlet with Cracking the Perimeter (CTP). OffSec continues to support EH-Net and their members by offering not just 1 but 5 courses for top contributors. We have 2 seats in PWB for our up-and-comers, 2 in WiFu for our wireless freaks and 1 in CTP for someone who shows just how wicked smart they are.

BTW - As luck may have it, Offensive Security has released a new version of PWB which is now aligned with BackTrack 4, has new video recordings, updated courseware, new double-sized lab with new OSs, new web app modules and much more. PWB v3.0 will be available March 21st. Gee... that's just in time for our winners to get it. Funny how that works out. ;-)

Let the feeding frenzy begin!!

del.icio.us

Discuss in Forums {mos_smf_discuss:News Items and General Discussion About EH-Net}

Participation is the ONLY way to win. Start a thread that sparks lots of interest; share thoughts and experiences; write an article; spread the word of EH-Net; help a newbie... quality is more important than quantity.

Only members are eligible!

Registration Is FREE!